Free intarsia knitting charts

Every color section in a row gets its own bobbin or ball, the main color included. A section carries on the same strand when it sits directly above a section of the same color; where a section splits into two, the new side needs a new strand, and where two sections merge, one strand ends. A chart in this book needs 3 to 12 bobbins, and the bobbins, ends, stitches per bobbin and most-at-once count are printed with each chart.

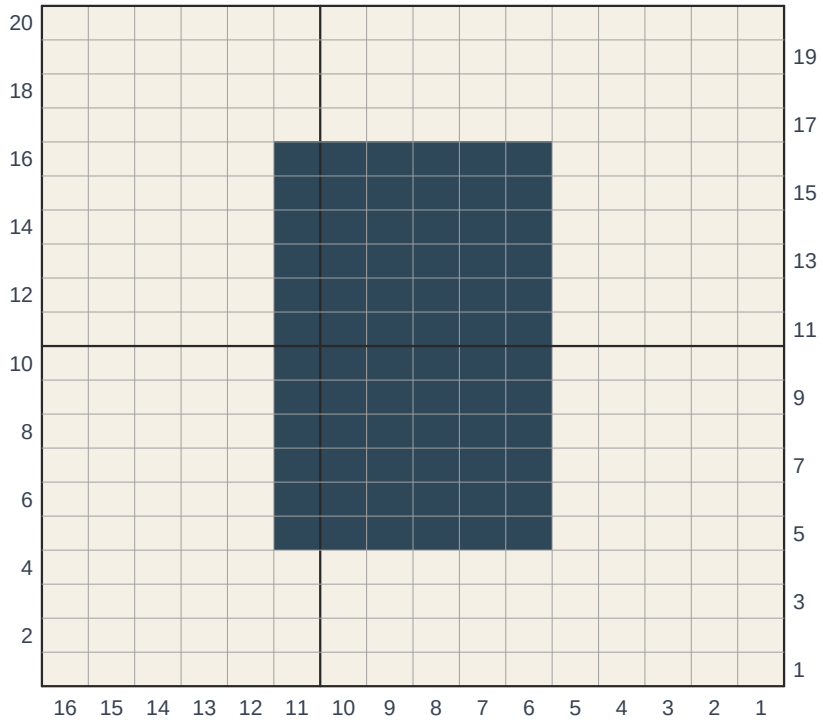

At every color change, bring the new yarn up from under the old yarn and cross the two before knitting the next stitch, on right-side and wrong-side rows alike. That twist closes the hole at the join; keep it relaxed so the motif does not pucker.

Weave each tail into the back of its own color, following the color change. To change the colors, gauge or size, open any chart in the free editor at knittingchart.com/intarsia-charts.
